Joshua McCarthy, Manager of the College Hill Café operated by Blue State on Brown University's Campus, discuss Blue State's partnership with CGF:

"In my professional career, I have had the honor and pleasure to work alongside great people from all over the globe, including Guatemala, Senegal, Jordan, Sri Lanka, and St. Kitts. The idea that I would have not met one of these fine co-workers due to a potential financial inability to acquire a citizenship loan is unthinkable, and this is what the Capital Good Fund helps prevent.

On the strength of the CGF's supporters casting 42% of the customer votes at Blue State Coffee's College Hill Cafe, Blue State was able to donate enough money to the Capital Good Fund for it to provide two citizenship loans. One would be hard pressed to provide a better tangible example of such success, and Blue State Coffee aspires to match or better that success in the third quarter of 2009.

Come support the Capital Good Fund by voting for it when you make a purchase at Blue State Coffee's College Hill Cafe, located inside the Brown University Bookstore on Thayer Street in Providence, R.I.!"
